Abexo is always trying to improve and develop new skills: we are very proud to herald that we have officially become members of the Italian association ACMI - Assocostruttori Chiusure e Meccanismi Italia. We are now part of a solid network representing a considerable opportunity for growth and professional training for our company.

What does ACMI do?

From 1996, ACMI is the association that brings together the producers of technical doors and gates for civil and industrial use, and components and accessories to integrate them.

ACMI strongly encourages the promotion of the “Made in Italy” products abroad, while pushing for the internationalization of its members and bolstering their participation in international trade shows. Moreover, it offers remarkable support in terms of technical updates and national and European standards.

ACMI is a member of F.IN.CO and E.D.S.F.

F.IN.CO is the Federation that brings together those professional associations working in the field of building materials, installation, road safety equipment and specialized machining in the area. F.IN.CO aims at facilitating the consultation between all the players of the sector, trying to maximize efficiency and visibility of the Federated Associations.

E.D.S.F., on the other hand, is the European Federation responsible for monitoring and leading the technical and regulatory development of new products and for encouraging the introduction of new standards in member countries.

Below, you find a list of ACMI members and from today you'll see the Abexo brand, too!

INTRODUCING THE MICRO PHOTOCELL

We proudly present our micro photocell Micro-P27.
We managed to reduce its dimensions so much that now it's less than three 2€ coins big!
Micro-P27 is compact, elegant, and it can easily fit every area.

Thanks to the lack of lever systems in the REED relay/relay REED, our P27 photocell allows: more miniaturization, a wider life span, a greater supply range than traditional relays.
